Tuesday's edition of the McCurtain Daily Gazette will feature a copyright story concerning Oklahoma City bombing defendant Timothy McVeigh's participation in a bank robbery scheme and his sister Jennifer's admitted role in laundering a portion of the loot from one robbery.

In a sworn affidavit provided the FBI in the days following the bombing of the Oklahoma City federal building, McVeigh's sister told authorities that her brother was part of a group that believed the government should be overthrown and that robbing banks to finance that objective was justifiable because the group believed Jewish interests control banks, and that those interests are the real thieves.

For the first time, Timothy McVeigh's connections to elements of a neo-Nazi gang seeking to finance overthrow of the government through bank robberies is detailed by the ATF's own paid informant, who used hidden cameras to film members of a group called the Aryan Republican Army as they toyed with explosives and talked of revolution.
